DERMACADEMY HIGHLIGHTS SINCE ISSUE 4

St John's DermAcademy are winners of the 2021 QiC Award for Dermatology Education Programmes for Healthcare professionals in recognition for innovation in the field. The award is a testament to the expert multidisciplinary team (MDT) of clinicians, specialist nurses, pharmacists, psychologists and invited speakers delivering dermatology education via online and face-to-face modalities.

Dr Alexandra Paolino and Dr Alison Sears accepting the award on behalf of the DermAcademy team

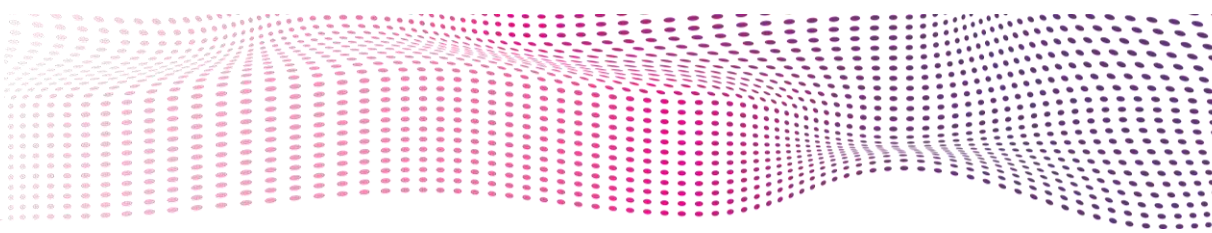

Congratulations to our fellow GSTT QiC 2021 winners!

TEAM NEWS

Lucy Moorhead, Dermatology Consultant Nurse based at St Thomas' Hospital and part of our DermAcademy Team, has been named by the British Dermatological Nursing Group (BDNG) as this year's winner of their prestigious Stone Achievement Award. The award recognises the individual who has made a consistently great contribution in the field of dermatology nursing. Lucy has worked in the field of dermatology for over twenty years, and currently leads a team of specialist nurses as the lead consultant nurse for the dermatology day centre. Lucy shares her passion and expertise regularly at a local, national and international level, including contributing to the nurse programme at the European Academy of Dermatology and Venereology, the World Congress of Dermatology, and recently as part of a delegation to support dermatology education for nurses in Myanmar.

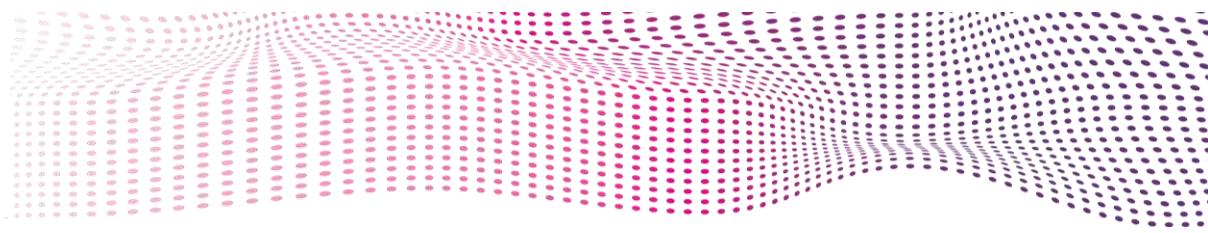

Louise Farrow, Head of Nursing for Specialist Ambulatory Services in Integrated and Specialist Medicine, said: "Lucy puts patients at the centre of everything she does and frequently receives compliments and letters of gratitude for going the extra mile in her support and care. She is an inspiration to other nurses and is an excellent ambassador for dermatology nursing, and under her clinical leadership the Medical Dermatology CNS Team won August's Trust Care Award, having been nominated by a patient. We are very lucky to have her as part of our team here at the Trust". Many congratulations to Lucy for receiving this well-deserved award.

A HUGE thank you to Dr Alison Sears for her tireless work over the past year. You are much missed! Welcome Dr Justin Bui who has joined us from Australia. Justin is a graduate of the University of Western Australia and is a Fellow of the Australasian College of Dermatologists after completing his dermatologist specialist training at Fiona Stanley Hospital, Royal Perth Hospital, Perth's Children Hospital and Sir Charles Gairdner Hospital. During his dermatology training he was elected as the Chair of the National Trainee Representatives Committee and was awarded the prestigious Junior Doctor of the Year WA award 2016. He has particular areas of interest in inflammatory dermatology, procedural dermatology and medical education.

2021 EVENTS WRAP UP – TRAINING EVENTS FOR NURSES

Clinical Dermatology Care Course for Nurses series during Sep-Dec

50 nurses and AHP attended our 12 week virtual course LED by Karina Jackson and Lucy Moorhead. Our excellent teaching faculty included 50 unique contributions. Each delegate presented on an array of topics to close this amazing learning journey. We were delighted that the course was so well evaluated by students and that we are looking forward to running the course again virtually this Autumn.

“Excellent presentation, great support of nurses and consultants in the practice sessions.”

“Well-structured course, plenty of learning material, well presented with good illustrations”

Skin Biopsy 2-day Course in November

20 nurses attended this face-to-face training here at Guy’s Hospital. This course includes a range of practical and theoretical workshops delivered by nursing and medical experts in the field of dermatological surgery.
